

In a personal journey to uncover a new purpose for her life, Mya copes with personal losses and confronts a cataclysmic planetary-wide event in the 24th century.

With the support of benevolent Androids and colleagues, along with new commercial opportunities and even alien interactions, she discovers a new purpose for herself.

Simultaneously, a revolt percolates across the Solar System and eventually boils over into Mya's path. Facing this threat to peace across all human space, Mya's team musters solutions to avoid decades of future warring.

With resilience, collaboration and compromises, Mya and her crew navigate these challenges, while she discovers a new future life mission amongst the stars.
